'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Well this is the day.
What day?
Look at the calendar and it may prevent you from supplying a laugh or two for the day.
Or if you do supply a laugh? What of it?
Probably the most hopeless personage permitted to breathe on this earth today is the fellow who can't take a joke with good grace. And these boys who get all "burnt up" when they are the brunt of the joke are usually the ones who are continually giving the other fellow the horse laugh for something or horse.

So have a heart today. Give everyone a chance and don't pick up pocketbooks, or mysterious looking packages. It might also be well not to take kicks at hats or similar objects which you may find parked on the streets.

In addition to being all fools day it is also the first of the month and we guess that you needn't be told what that means. The mail man will probably do it for you.
And our almanac tells us that this is the 91st day of the year with 274 more to come before we'll be writing 1931. Many things can happen in those 274 days someone tells us but then not so much has happened in the last 91 that will ever make history students scratch their knowledge bumps.

In case you didn't hear about it before a freak storm visited these parts over the week-end. While we were out watering our lawns yesterday practically the entire country with the exception of Richmond and Pinole was being pelted by rain which nearly assumed the proportions of a cloudburst. East Oakland also reported heavy rain, as did other cities as far south as San Jose.

Is your wife grouchy? The Chicago household economic council service advises that if she is, provide her with a few feet of springy turf where she can walk and romp around every day. A little gambol on the green is the ideal thing for those tired and calloused feet caused by standing and walking on a hard floor all day long.

Protect your hats gentlemen. Someone in the eastbay region is trying to start a fad of women's hats made out of men's headgear. The idea is that wife or sister takes your old cast aside hats and makes herself a nifty Easter bonnet out of it. But watch your hats boys, they may take an interest in some of those you "have hardly worn at all."

Scientists are making quite a bit of fuss about the girl who cries at jokes and laughs at sorrow. Doctors contend that her facial muscles are reversed, or something like that. Now you married men gather around and inform the world that you know someone that cries at your jokes and probably laughs at your troubles, and she isn't being studied as a freak of nature either.

The employees in turn swore that the property was their own and then signed the bonds which each contractor must deposit with the city to insure the carrying out of a contract.

WORK WILL BE STARTED TODAY

The coming of a $625,000 industry to Richmond was definitely settled by the city planning commission and the city council last night, when they voted a permit to the Golden Gate Sardine company to locate its plant in Richmond at Point Melate, on a seven-acre tract of land recently purchased from the A. S. Macdonald interests.

Peter Newman, the president of the company, accompanied by his attorney Tear N. Calfee, appeared before the planning commission, and explained all the workings of a fish cannery to the members. He assured them there would be no odor from the operation of the plant.

Newman stated that the latest machinery for the operation of fish cannery and reduction plant would be installed, and the plant would be operated to the satisfaction of the authorities in every way.

Work of filling part of the land will start today, and work will be rushed on the fish factory and can factory, so that they will be ready for operation in August.

Newman showed the plans of the new industry to the members of the planning commission. The fish cannery will be two stories in height and will be 185x150 feet.

The can factory and warehouse will be 400x150 feet, and in addition there will be a wharf that will extend out to the pierhead line.

To Employ 250

There will be no wooden floors in the fish cannery, but concrete will be used. The building will be of steel frame and corrugated iron construction.

It is stated the new industry will employ about 250. The canning period for fish is from August to February.

Later it is the intention of the company to build another large factory in the same location, that will be devoted to the canning of fruits and berries.

21 GROUPS TO AID CENSUS TOMORROW

BLANKS WILL BE MAILED BY CITY

The importance of seeing that every resident of the city is enumerated during the federal census which starts tomorrow was forcibly brought out at a mass meeting held at the council chambers at the city hall last night.

Fraud Charged In School Board Vote

MARTINEZ, March 31.—A complaint, signed by Mrs. Myrtle Osborne, a member of the Green Valley board of school trustees, charging Antonio Sanchez with illegal voting, was issued by Deputy District Attorney R. L. Boyer today.

With consolidation of the Green Valley and Danville grammar school district as the issue, feeling has been running high in the Green Valley district.

Issuance of the complaint followed charges by Mrs. Osborne that Sanchez registered on March 6, and voted at the trustee election last Friday. She claims he was not registered on the 1928 register. In the recent election, Elmer Short, anti-consolidationist was elected over the consolidation candidate, Mrs. Leulla Smith, by a vote of 25 to 22. Sanchez is rumored to have favored Short's election.

WISHING MOON

I wished last night when the wishing moon,
Silver and cold and still,
Hung like a crescent in the sky
Over the farthest hill.

Wealth of the world at your fingertips,
Health at your side always,
Happiness full as a brimming cup
With ever the will to stay.

And last, I wished it and sent it too—
A tiny wish, small and faint—
But the wishing moon must have found it there,
For you came to me, Dear, to-night!

HELPING MOTHERS

WHEN Dr. Kurt Erich Schlossberg, the physician who introduced Twilight Sleep into the United States, died here the other day, a line in his obituary explained that this way of promoting painless maternity "has been successful in New York by more advanced methods." Women, who will be interested in the latest developments of what would seem to be one of the most successful of these methods, an account appearing in the November issue of the Ladies' Home Journal.

One of this city's most famous institutions for the care of mothers and babies, the New York Lying-In Hospital, is doing successfully in thousands of cases the Gwaltney technique for making motherhood not only less painful but less dangerous. This is the world of "Twilight Sleep," a technique which, according to a recent issue of the Ladies' Home Journal, is being used by a large number of hospitals. In over a hundred cases, he invented a humane device known as the ether cocktail to relieve the pain of childbirth. In children's words, he married reason of sense to reason of sense. Thanks to Dr. P. Davis, chief surgeon of the New York Lying-In Hospital, the Gwaltney technique became regular practice there over ten years ago and has been found very satisfactory in 12,000 cases. One man practicing at this hospital has reported that in 85 per cent of 1,200 maternal cases, the Gwaltney technique has given relief from pain. It is also used in many other parts of the country, according to Mrs. Todd's report.

BAKISH A DAY

By Nancy Davis

The modern housewife and the baker co-operate in the making of dairy cakes for year-round enjoyment. As it happens, the heavy work falls upon the willing baker, while only the decorative touch is left for the culinary artist.

Some round and squares of featherweight quality and some good varieties of heavy cakes are obtainable in the grocery and delicatessen stores. These ready-to-serve cakes take the baking out of the kitchenette and prove a boon to the woman busy about the house.

The fillings that go between the cake layers transform the bakery product into a distinctive home creation. Simply prepared fillings and frostings flavored with butter, vanilla, cream, fruit, or chocolate, and sprinkled with nuts, candied fruits or coconut sometimes please more than those involving time and effort.

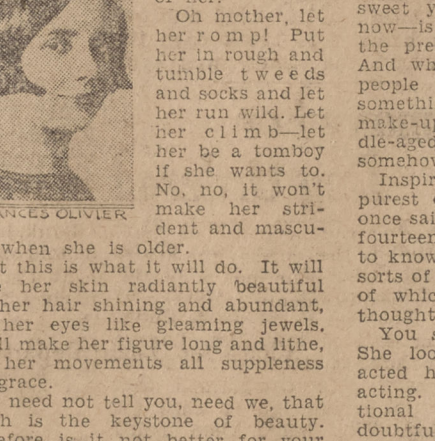

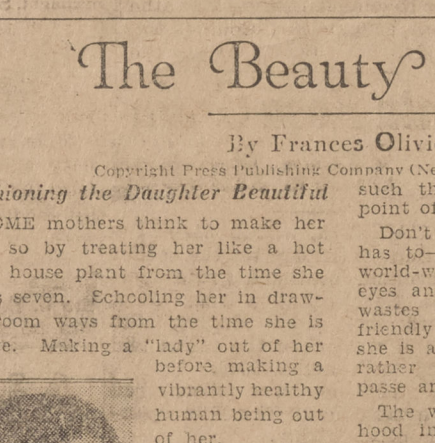

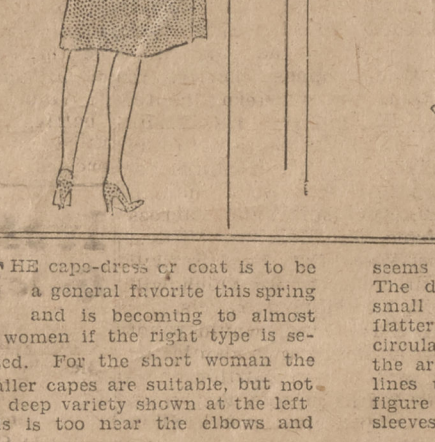

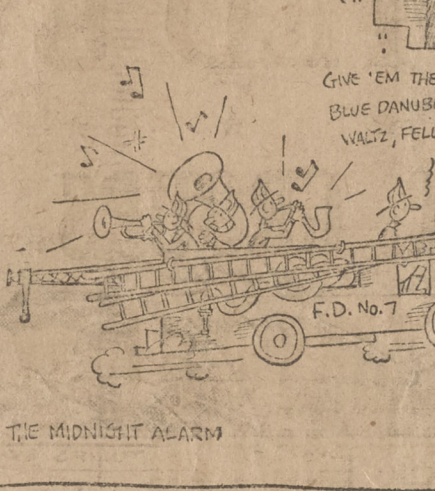

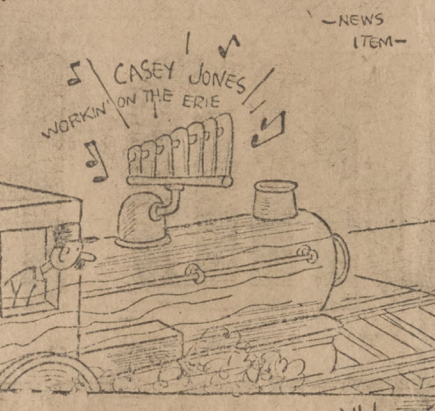

Whipped cream, slightly sweetened, and sliced fruit, canned or stewed dried fruit, sweetened fruit and one cup of whipped cream complete the list of materials. Strawberries and all berries in season or in cans, peaches, bananas, apricots, pineapple, oranges, stewed rhubarb, apple sauce, stewed raisins, figs and dates, make excellent frostings.

Split the sponge into two or three layers, lengthwise. Spread the first and second layer with crushed fruit and a covering of whipped cream, and the third layer and the sides with

"Babying" Children

MRS. STRONG has been missing small change from her purse for some time. After making sure of the fact she concentrated her attention upon finding the culprit. At last she caught him, red-handed—her five-year-old son! And then a pitiful confession came, little by little. When he first went to kindergarten the other boys had teased and pummeled him unmercifully. One day he hit upon this plan of stealing money to bite them to leave him alone. It had worked marvelously!

Why was this little one unable to hold his own with the other children? He certainly was bright enough. And he was strong enough, too. But he had never learned to do things for himself. All of his problems, since his birth, had been solved by his mother or some other member of his family. He had been dressed and fed all his life. If a ball went behind the sofa, mother rescued it. If his house of blocks threatened to collapse, mother "fixed" them. If another child took his toy, mother promptly restored it. So, when the need arose to do something on his own to protect himself, he was utterly at a loss. He had never learned to do things for himself.

Most parents enjoy "babying" their children. It gives them a great deal of pleasure. But it is not entirely selfish. Kindergarten children continually complain of mothers who "follow" their little ones into the classroom, abandoning their studies, taking off their rubbers, etc. Five-year-olds are capable of doing these things for themselves. And furthermore, they enjoy the feeling of independence. What right have parents to rob them of this skill, self-respect and joy?

Recently I met a twelve-year-old boy who, when questioned about anything, looked at his mother all the time he was answering, to see whether or not she approved. Poor child, to be so dependent on his mother! Later I learned that this mother still put up the boy's meat and accompanied him to and from school. Birds show their feelings from the nest very early so that they will learn how to care for themselves. Let us learn from these wise creatures and also teach our young children to care for themselves. They will be happier children and much happier adults!

Helping the School Child

By Emilie Hoffman

THE school nurse tells me to have the girl's adenoids removed, but the child never complains about pain back of the nose, so why should they come out? I am very nervous about even the slightest operation. Do you think it really should be done?

Queries similar to this are frequent. One mother has the idea "adenoids are natural. They come and go with the change of the season." If these mothers were clever observers they would have seen the bad results of neglected adenoids. It has been estimated that 2,000,000 American school children are adenoid victims. Is your child one of these?

This condition is responsible for many of the school failures and the removal of the adenoids is entirely in the hands of the mother. Perhaps she does not recognize the difficulty, she may not understand its serious results.

If these mothers were told neglected adenoids spoil the beauty of a child by distorting the mouth and chin they might become more interested in a cure. But enlarged adenoids do more than this—they seriously affect the good health of the child and his studying efficiency. When adenoids become too large they interfere with the free passage of air from the nose to the throat and the child becomes a mouth breather. He may snore. He is restless and tosses in his sleep. So, naturally, he becomes cross and irritable and then is when the low marks in school appear.

Do his upper teeth protrude much beyond the lower ones? Does his jaw seem to be narrowing and have you noticed he often has a strained expression? These are the serious results. This condition of the jaw prevents proper mastication and digestive troubles follow. Infections of the middle ear are often due to adenoid growth. They are a serious

The Farmer's Advice

By Alfalfa Smith

I HAVE talked to you so much about spending your last penny cheerfully, that it gives me great pleasure to quote from a recent magazine article by Bruce Barton, who has his mother say to her eldest son:

"It is wonderful how the Lord always looks after me. Yesterday I gave away 20 and to-day it comes back to me from your father in an entirely unexpected wedding fee. The more I give away, the more comes in."

The White Window Shades

THE old white window shades can be washed, then rinsed in water containing tea or coffee, or they may just be dipped in a solution of seltzer and water to make them a tan shade.

If you want to use them in an off bedroom you can tint them any tone to harmonize with your room, and if you need green shades, the discarded white ones may readily be dyed.

To tint, dye them, mix the coloring solution in the bathtub where you can easily dip up a square without crumpling it and the coloring will be evenly done. (Kerosene and a fine scouring powder will effectively cleanse the shades.)

If you do not care to use them as window shades you will find them strong and serviceable ironing board covers after they have been washed and ironed to remove the stiffening.

Financier Of Revolt Given 21 Month Term

LOS ANGELES, March 31.—UP.—A 21-months prison sentence imposed on Juan O. Ramos, who pleaded guilty to a charge of abducting with $50,000 from a local bank to finance a Mexican revolution, was suspended for three years today in the belief that incarceration would mean his death. Federal Judge William B. James reserved the right to impose some sentence later if Ramos recovers fully. Ramos, formerly manager of the foreign accounts department of the United States National bank of Los Angeles, absconded several years ago and was indicted.

He sought refuge in Holland and successfully resisted extradition on the grounds that his offense was a political one, inasmuch as the money was used to finance a revolt. Assistant United States Attorney John R. Laying went to Amsterdam and persuaded Ramos to return. Incarceration in a Dutch prison brought about a stroke of paralysis and Ramos was near death when he returned here.

Sunday Free Of Infidelity Count

LOS ANGELES, March 31.—UP.—The infidelity complaint brought against George M. Sunday, son of the famous evangelist, Billy Sunday, and Maureen LaSalle, Hollywood cloak model was dismissed in municipal court today at the request of Mrs. Harriet Sunday.

The wife swore out the complaint last October, whereupon the pair disappeared. Sunday was arrested in Chicago last week and was being held for extradition on the complaint when the charge here was dismissed. Mrs. Sunday would have had to pay his railroad fare here, the county refusing because it was a family dispute.

It was not known here whether Sunday would be extradited to Oakland, Calif., to face charges of not returning a car rented there after fleeing from Los Angeles.

Mabel Normand Estate Valued At $94,000

LOS ANGELES, March 31.—UP.—The estate of Mabel Normand at the time of the death was valued at $94,000. It was disclosed today when it was given to the actress' mother, Mrs. Mary D. Normand, under formal action of Probate Judge Albert Lee Stephens.

Niles Spur Track Hearing To Be Held At San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—UP.—In a prelude to the "big campaign" which opens shortly in Washington, the Western Pacific railroad will tomorrow receive its hearing on its application to the Interstate Commerce Commission to build a spur track down the San Francisco peninsula, and across the Redwood City bridge to Niles.

Commissioner H. C. Davis will preside at the hearing, which will be held at Hotel St. Francis.

The proposed spur would be of considerable importance should the petition of the Great Northern and Western Pacific to join their lines and enter California through Klamath and Keddle, be allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The local project would require an outlay of approximately $8,000,000 to construct.

Air War To Start Today

SACRAMENTO, March 31.—UP.—Attack, bombardment and pursuit missions will fly a total of 25,000 miles from here Tuesday as the annual field exercises of the army air corps are officially opened.

Most of the 150 planes here from all parts of the country will take off early in the morning, some of them will go south to Monterey bay, where the "Red" fleet, or imaginary enemy, has anchored preparatory to an "attack" on northern California. Others will go west over San Francisco bay where battleships, or their own "blue" forces are presumed to be bottled up.

The remainder will become familiar with the territory around Modesto and Stockton, where both "Red" and "Blue" infantry and artillery face each other from trenches, or with the country to the east and north.

It is estimated the planes will fly a total of 1,000,000 miles before they conclude the exercises. For the remainder of the week, preliminary tests are all that are on the schedule, except a parade of all craft before Governor C. C. Young Saturday. The major "battles" will be fought in the third and last week of the exercises.

Ability to Pay

In extending credit to his customers a number of years ago John Wenzel of Philadelphia proved that this requirement was the least of importance. Many men controlling large sums of money had their cash so tied up in investments and business that although they had the ultimate ability to repay loans they seldom took care of obligations promptly.

He placed at the top of the list the moral character of the individual and proved conclusively that a man of good standing and possessing a pleasing credit record always pays his obligations as they fall due.

Here in Richmond the Mechanics Bank is pleased to extend loans on the basis of character. If you need money drop into one of our conveniently located offices and discuss your requirements with one of our officers.

BRITISH FRENCH DISCUSS NAVAL TREATY

LONDON, March 31.—UP.—France British security negotiations, on which the fate of a five power naval treaty largely depends, was still under way tonight, but their success was problematical.

Foreign Minister Aristide Briand of France, said he believed the world would know before Friday's plenary session whether the discussions would succeed or fail. In American circles it was stated the United States, Great Britain and Japan probably would rush a three power pact to completion within a week if five power negotiations ended.

The French were busily framing new formulas whereby Britain might satisfy their security demands without committing herself to new military commitments.

It was claimed however that the foreign minister felt disappointed at the British stand of "no additional commitments," announced last night.

The Americans, on the other hand, were not discouraged by the slow progress made by France and England. They seemed more interested in Tokio's favorable reply expected in a few days to their own navy proposals.

SOUTH SEA ROSE REVEALS STAR IN NEW ROLE

In a role not unlike her unforgettable stage creation in "Kiki" Lenore Ulric as a temptress and fiery half-caste, comes to the Fox-California theater screen today in "South Sea Rose," her second Fox movie-talking picture.

Here, with a story conveyed around her sparkling talent, Miss Ulric brings to the speaking screen a performance destined to match the brilliant creations of her famous stage career.

Tantalizing, devil-possessed and reckless, Miss Ulric portrays Rosalie, the deserted daughter of a seafaring explorer who has a dull routine of a South Sea island convent. Here, burning with the passion of maidenhood, she frees herself to marry the first man who expresses a desire for possession.

Freed from the restrictions of the convent walls, Rosalie accompanies her sea-captain husband to his home on the peaceful shores of the New England coast. To the rugged people of the community, tropical islanders are but a little beyond savages and the reception is repellent. But Rosalie, exercising the magic of her innocent purity, is creating her own amusement.

Tricky, deceptive and dangerous, her antics cause hatred and jealousy among the plain folks and her innocent treachery gives reason for a maddening but exquisitely related episode in the lives of this small band of wayfarers.

Allan Dwan, the director, has given "South Sea Rose" a refreshing charm that will distinguish it as one of the best talking films of the season. His tempo is all way smooth and he has told a compelling story with excellent clarity and beauty.

Charles Bickford, as the rough and ready sea captain, gives a capital performance, and a long list of competent players contribute fine supporting work. Among them are Kenneth Mackenna, Tom Patricola, Elizabeth Patterson, Farrell Macdonald, Roscoe Ates, G. MacFarland, Ipa Chase, Davine Zellard, Ben Hall and Charlotte Walker.

A talking comedy "End of the World" is also on the program.

RAMMING OF DANCE SHIP PROBED

ST. HELENS, Ore., March 31.—Official investigation of the ramming of the dance ship by the lumber schooner Davenport with a possible loss of eight lives will open Tuesday at Marshfield.

United States Steamboat inspectors Palmer and Wynn will question officers and crew of the dance ship and later will take testimony from officers and passengers of the Swan in Portland.

The board of governors of the Vancouver chamber of commerce asked in a resolution that a searching inquiry be conducted and that "if any be found guilty or negligent that they be vigorously prosecuted."

Score Hurt
A score of more were injured and the 280 passengers were tossed about like straws when the prow of the Davenport crashed into the stern of the Swan in Portland.

The crash occurred early Sunday while both vessels were crowded with merry-makers en route home from the Longview bridge celebration.

The known dead are Richard J. Belland, Jr., son of R. J. Belland, owner of the Swan; Mrs. A. Hagerdon, Mrs. Stanley Stone, Mrs. P. E. Lumby and J. E. Larson. Young Belland's home was in Portland and the rest resided in Vancouver, Wash.

One Missing
Fred Hoffman, deck hand on the tug DIX, which propelled the Swan, is numbered among the three missing persons. He is believed certainly to have lost his life as the DIX sank immediately after the crash. Leslie Siegle, Vancouver, Wash., and C. G. Brown, Aspland, Kan., bugler, Company 1, Vancouver Barracks, also are missing.

Young Belland died in the engine room of the DIX while his father, still in rescuing passengers who were pitched into the river, Mrs. Hagerdon was believed to have been killed when struck by flying timbers. The body of Mrs. Stone was found floating in the river Sunday afternoon while the body of Mrs. Lumby was located against the jetty on the Washington side. Larson was drowned.

ANNEX MATRON FINAL RITES TOMORROW

Funeral services for Mrs. Cleopatra Hall, 62, of 1644 San Antonio avenue, Richmond Annex, who died in the County Hospital at Martinez Sunday night, will be conducted from the Wilson and Kratzer funeral parlors tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock.

Mrs. Hall died about two hours after being committed to the hospital for observation on a mental charge.

The complaint was sworn out by the woman's husband, John E. Hall, who told police that while engaged in a family argument, Mrs. Hall attempted to shoot him. This, he declared, according to police records, was due to an old illness which had caused her to become mentally deranged.

She is survived in addition to her husband, by two sons, Rodney Carter of San Francisco, and Roy L. Carter of National City.

Mrs. Hall was a native of California and has resided in Richmond Annex the last three years.

PLANS TOLD FOR FORD PLANT HERE

tion adjacent to the Ford channel. This part of the structure to be 100 by 450 feet will contain the warehouse and the boiler shops on the western end. A Southern Pacific spur will be built into the warehouse.

To Build Wharf
A wharf will be constructed on this channel so that material for the construction of the cars can be loaded directly from ships to the warehouse. Several railroad spurs will probably be constructed along this wharf also.

Another Southern Pacific spur will be built into the assembly portion of the building. This part of the building will be 900 by 350 feet and the western half of it will be two stories in height. This section of the building will house the office as well as the assembling line of the plant. Between the assembling shops and Hall avenue a parking area 500 by 400 feet will be provided to take care of the new cars as they come off the assembly line.

The portion of the property between Tenth street and the building will be landscaped with lawns and shrubbery and add a great deal to the appearance of the property of the company.

Officials Here
Men who will be identified with the construction of the plant arrived in Richmond yesterday and will remain here during the construction of the plant.

They are W. M. Bremner of the Albert Kahn Construction company and R. E. Winkler, member of the Ford engineering staff.

The Kahn company is one of the country's largest architectural engineering and construction firms.

Preliminary Work
Both men will devote themselves to a study of the preliminary work now under way at the Ford site on the inner harbor where test piles are being driven to ascertain the nature of the foundation upon which the $4,000,000 assembly plant is to be constructed.

The visitors have both been at Long Beach where the southern California plant was recently brought to completion.

It was not revealed yesterday when the contract for the construction of the plant will be let but it is generally believed that construction work will be under way within a month.

MASONS FETE ANNIVERSARY

A crowd that packed the Masonic hall to overflowing attended a celebration of Harbor Masons' lodge's ninth birthday last night.

Dr. George F. Rodden of San Rafael, past master, was the speaker of the evening. Other speeches were made by J. E. Hughes of Berkeley, district inspector and L. M. Johnson, senior pastor, who talked on the early history of Harbor Lodge.

Following the speeches, a banquet was served under the direction of Carl Overaa. The tables were decorated with flowers and at the head table was an enormous birthday cake with nine candles on it. Emmett Hitchcock, worshipful master of Harbor lodge presided.

During the banquet a seven-piece orchestra offered selections. Clifford Metz was chairman of the entertainment.

All Quiet At Prison Riot

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 31.—UP—Despite rumors that the most serious rioting in the Missouri State penitentiary here would occur this week, more than 1,000 convicts were employed to work when prison factories were reopened.

A double company of guards and militiamen were stationed in the factories to prevent serious trouble should another break occur. About 800 participants in last week's riots, which caused injuries to 75 men, were kept in cells today.

Twenty-five others were taken from their cells to dungeons when prison authorities learned they had been ringleaders in the rioting.

California motorists, in the majority, have little necessity for chains, remarks the National Automobile club, but it is well to remember that no mountain trip should be attempted this time of the year without a set.

Recovering From Wounds

SYDNEY FRANKLIN, American bull fighter, who was recently gored at the Madrid arena, is reported to be recovering from his injuries.

Mexican Pilot Planning Tour

SAN DIEGO, March 31.—UP—A series of international good will flights were announced by Colonel Pablo Sidar, chief of the Mexican air force, before he left here today by plane, enroute to Mexico City.

Colonel Sidar said he planned a flight from Mexico to Buenos Aires and thence to various points in Mexico to points in north and south American countries. A plane now under construction at the Emco plant in southern California will be used, he said. Colonel Sidar purchased a glider and a sailplane here. He left by passenger plane for El Paso and will continue from there by train.

California utilities grouped under North American ownership include the Great Western Power company of California—San Joaquin Light and Power company, Midland Counties Public Service corporation, Feather River Power company, California Electric Co. and Napa Valley Electric company.

EIGHT OAKLAND PAVING MEN INDICTED

one worth of property to E. J. Gridley, one of its solicitors and Elsie Laird, a bookkeeper. They went on the company's bond. Later the property was transferred back to the company.

Transfers Hit
The jury was told that the transfers were deliberate fictions, and that in none of the many cases cited by witnesses was the transfer anything except a subterfuge.

The Hutchinsons are indicted on five counts each; Healy and Moore on three counts each and the four members of the Central Construction company on two counts each. Questioned by the Grand Jury, City Clerk Frank C. Merritt denied that he displayed paving bids in such a manner that agents of the "ring" would know exactly who were competing and could eliminate outside competition by turning in a last minute low bid if necessary.

Van Noy Talks
Floyd L. Van Noy, former patent paying agent, was the principal witness before the grand jury today.

He testified to conversations with John G. Garbutt, former patent paying agent, at which Garbutt is alleged to have urged him, to "hurry up the job so that we can pay off the boys at the city hall."

Harry Lesser, indicted paving man told him that payments were being made at the city hall, Van Noy said.

Resignation Of British Cabinet Asked In Vote

LONDON, March 31.—UP—Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald again suffered defeat today in the House of Commons on a technical question and smilingly ignored tumultuous cries of Conservatives for the cabinet's resignation.

The labor premier was defeated 183 to 179, on his own motion for suspended tonight of the rule which automatically terminates daily debate at 11 p. m.

The Conservative whips had skillfully manipulated the vote on suspension of the rule at a time when most of their party members were present but many laborites and liberals were absent.

After the defeat Melville Chamberlain, a Conservative, technically moved for adjournment to enable MacDonald to consider his position. The speaker indicated he would not accept the motion and Chamberlain then moved to report progress.

Chamberlain's motion, which would have meant a more serious defeat for the cabinet, was defeated, 185 to 175, amid cheers of the Laborites. The House then resumed regular business.

CAUSE FOR REJOICING!

EXCUSE our enthusiasm, but we see good cause for rejoicing as the Music Defense League nears the 2,000,000 membership mark after a few short weeks of effort.

And, if that doesn't prove that the art of music is worthy of preservation, and the good sense to want one's money's worth. There are no dues, no obligations.

There is nothing exclusive about this swiftly-growing society. It's inclusive—inclusive of the intelligent citizenry of the New World. And that covers a lot of people, cynics to the contrary notwithstanding. It should, by the way, include YOU.

To become a member in good standing of the Music Defense League one needs only the discriminating taste to know that the art of music is worthy of preservation, and the good sense to want one's money's worth. There are no dues, no obligations.

Throughout the world friends of music are alive to the cultural menace of Canned Music in Theaters. Even the governments of England, France, Spain and Italy are considering measures to prevent this artistic debasement.

American music lovers have chosen the popular and democratic course—that of registering public demand through the Music Defense League.

What if theatrical interests are momentarily deaf to all considerations save profits gained through false economy? They will heed the voice of the public when that voice attains a sufficiently compelling volume. For the public must be served.

If you value the cultural influence of music... if you feel that the price you pay for theatrical entertainment entitles you to real music rendered by living musicians in the theatre, sign the coupon below and mail it.

Neither team had everything its own way in Sunday's close contest. The score was tied 1 to 1 at the end of the first inning. The Coreys went into the lead in the third by gaining two more runs. The score was again tied in the fourth canto, and the visitors went in a one run lead in the sixth inning. C. Matteri was the hitting star for the Coreys in Sunday contests collecting two doubles and a single out of five times at bat. Crusan was the main swatter for the winners, garnering a single and a double.

The Leader Market outfit came to El Cerrito Sunday bearing an exceptionally high reputation as a baseball team. It captured the title of the Oakland Spaulding B league of 1930.

The members of the Corey lineup in Sunday's contest were: Brendel, pitcher; San Miguel, catcher; Chambers, first; Prolo, second; B. Matteri, short stop; C. Matteri third; Pinto, left field; Mulley, center field; Klatt, right field.

Local Soccer Club Loses Title Contest

The Richmond soccer athletes failed to capture the Junior East Bay Soccer league cup Sunday when they were defeated 4 to 0 by the Phoenix club of Oakland at the Oakland trotting park.

The Phoenix players succeeded in keeping the greater part of the contest in Richmond territory. The local forwards were unable to break through the splendid defense of the Oaklanders, while the Phoenix boys were continually dashing in and out around the Richmond goal.

The Oakland Phoenix club has shown a brand of soccer far above that of any other members of the league during the entire season of 1930. The pick of the eastbay soccer athletes compose the membership of the cup owners.

Plans are now being laid for a Junior Eastbay Soccer league in keeping the greater part of the league cup will be presented at that time.

The directors of the Richmond Soccer club are attempting to secure contests with the Martinez and Petaluma elevens.

SYNOPSIS

Wade finds Stella Blackadder of Ma Blackney, who is the only hotel in a white settlement in New Guinea, strangely concerned about his spree during which he was robbed of his savings. She tells him that O'Shane, the storekeeper, robbed him while he was drunk, but later tells O'Shane that Wade is only bluffing when he accuses him of the theft. Wade finds out the reason later. Stella has been forced to marry O'Shane, whom she loathes, by her dipsoniac mother. O'Shane is only waiting till her mother's death to claim his rights as a husband. In the meantime he is running with native girls.

But late in the afternoon she had gone to the store to make some purchases, and O'Shane tricked her into a room at the back. The immediate coming of the three white men, however, created a diversion; in the interests of selling them liquor and keeping them supplied, he left her alone for the time; and when the opportunity came she climbed through a window and escaped. Fearing unenviable publicity, she said nothing of her adventure to anyone save Stella, who had done her various kindnesses and was her friend.

Stella waved the girl away. Then she gathered herself into a kneeling position, facing Wade, her hands the while moving restlessly.

And contact with elementary forces, with Nature naked and simple, gave him a clearness of understanding he might never have otherwise obtained. He gained a new perspective, found the truth lay behind his suspicion that life as he had known it was out of drawing. What once had seemed of vastest importance had importance no longer.

But the attitude of his earlier life remained with him. This new world was a man's world. In it women of his own colour were the rarest phenomena. In the absence of the thing to measure he had no need to apply the gauge with which he measured other aspects of life. Consequently, the training of his adolescence, that the marriage tie was inviolable, in all circumstances sacred, remained with him mainly in its orthodox and conventional condition.

David Wade was fighting a battle between a sense of right-doing and the call of beauty in distress, and, though he paced the sands till the sun went down behind the horizon like a great red plate, he came to no decision.

The bell for the evening meal summoned him to the hotel as the first of the quick tropic night came down. As he ascended the veranda steps, a native rushed down past him and towards the doctor's bungalow, and from Mrs. Blackney's room came a shrill screaming, a harsh and frantic screaming—the screaming of a woman terror-stricken and defiant by turns.

And then Wade entered upon an experience such as never had encountered before. He desired to encounter again, the first prising of which came from the halfcaste nurse who, coming from Mrs. Blackney's room, as running, he reached the door, said, with a nervous glance behind her, "Fraid! Fraid! I am 'fraid! Fraid! Never have I looked this kind of sickness."

The light of a lamp on a table showed on the walls of the room crude lithographs, on the floor mats edged with threads of coloured wool, and in a bed having four tall posts supporting a mosquito-net, one end of which had fallen loose, the mother of Stella Blackney, sitting upright.

She was utterly dishevelled, the upper part of her sleeping-dress hanging in irregular strips, and her hair a tangle of disorder. Also, she had her hands out a little before her, with the fingers curved rigidly and her body swaying, as though she were exerting the whole of her strength in the grasping and fighting of something, the while her lips worked convulsively in the uttering of shrill denunciation alternated with piteous appeal for mercy.

Indeed, so vigorous and direct was the denunciation that for a moment Wade thought it aimed at himself. On realizing she was delirious, he stepped to the bed and with gentle force made her lay back. She resisted him easily; but "You wouldn't condemn me to a life with him!" The words throbbed from her. "I must get away! I must!"

"I know!" he said, casting about for change of topic, and adding desperately: "There is no doubt that I am the man who robbed you. That girl's story was quite convincing. I will tackle O'Shane at once, and—"

"He will come to the hotel this evening. He comes every evening. There was absolute colourlessness in her tone as she said to me, 'I will get your property back.' And—"

EASTBAY GIVEN BOOST OVER RADIO

Symbolizing a united front in the interest of east bay development the first of a series of joint programs by the chamber of commerce of Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, San Leandro and Richmond, was presented Sunday night over radio station KFWM.

According to W. D. Barbee, chairman of the joint chamber committee this is the opening gun in a publicity campaign to demonstrate to local people and the world the unity of effort in developing the entire region on the east shore of the San Francisco bay.

Ed Wallace, winner of the California contest for the best hometown talk at the recent real estate convention in San Diego, took his listeners for an imaginary airplane flight over the district picturing the bathers on the Alameda beaches, the industrial and harbor developments along the shore line, the great concentration of population and in the distance the snow-capped peaks of the Sierras from which the region draws its water supply.

Lands Waterfront
 "And as our plans bring us safely back to America's finest airport a moment of reflection tells us that we have just seen a great metropolis of 600,000 happy people, a city of commerce and industry, a city blessed with a great harbor and all modern means of transportation, a city of homes, culture and recreation, a city with a fine ideal climate and unmatched scenery, the great east bay," said Wallace. "To those already fortunate in living here we invite you to see your city from the air. To those at distant stations we invite you to come to this land of opportunity."

Hollis R. Thompson, managing director of the Berkeley chamber of commerce, talked on the value of chamber of commerce work in upbuilding the community.

"The development of the east bay region in the last few years, which will be largely along industrial lines and bound to be the result not only of chamber of commerce working in the various communities but of the cooperation between the chambers of those communities," said Thompson. "Already we have before us the example of the Ford plant coming to Richmond, the Heinz company to Berkeley and the Chrysler's signed up for Oakland, as a result of chamber of commerce activity intelligently directed. Our commercial development is essentially the product of organized citizenry work through organizations such as chambers of commerce."

Program Given
 "The musical program was given by the Golden West quartet made up of Dixon Ervine, Kenneth Morse, Ralph Wastell and Bert R. Schrader; Arthur W. Morgan in baritone solos and instrumental numbers by the KFWM artists. The program was made possible by cooperation of KFWM which donated the time under arrangements of W. L. Gleason, general manager.

Next Sunday night there will be another program between 10:15 and 11 o'clock featuring Fred D. Parr, speaking for Richmond and Bestor Robinson for Oakland.

Mrs. McCormick, Opponent Engage In Wordy Battle

CHICAGO, March 31.—UP—A circus publicity man, had he been called in tonight, probably would have billed the senatorial combat between Mrs. Ruth Anna McCormick and Charles S. Deneen as "the greatest show on earth."

He would have called it "America's unique political battle," "the nation's first struggles of the sexes for high political office."

Mrs. McCormick rented the Apollo theater where she told all and sundry why Deneen should not be elected. Half a block away and at the same time Deneen was speechmaking in the Grand Opera house. Both are running for the Republican senatorial nomination at the April 8 primaries.

Charges Made
 Mrs. McCormick charged that Deneen "was a political chameleon" that his support of the World Court was "ridiculous," and that he was "nothing more than a political boss."

Deneen, running for reelection to the Senate, charged his feminine opponent with being "a party to various shady deals," recounted all the public improvements he instigated when he was governor of Illinois and defied Mrs. McCormick to explain why she was so opposed to the World Court.

While this was taking place the crafty Democrats stalked the nearby streets to make known that they also were planning to hold a senatorial primary election on April 8.

More Cheers
 As soon as Mrs. McCormick had finished her speech, J. Hamilton Lewis, far-famed Democratic contender to the senatorial toga, drove up to the Apollo theater with his own brass band. Before Mrs. McCormick's audience could leave, Lewis' cohorts were inside advising the crowd that it hadn't heard anything yet and that it had better remain while Lewis "told his side of the story."

J. Ham vented his rage on both of his opponents for "sidestepping the liquor question" and promised it elected to do his best to bring back the good old days. The audience which had cheered Mrs. McCormick only a few minutes before, howled its approval in even louder fashion when Lewis completed his oratory.

Southern Cross Pilot Plans Hop Over Atlantic

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—UP—Capt. Charles Kingford-Smith, who, with Uim, Warner and Lyons as his fellow adventurers, crossed the Pacific to Suva and Australia in the Southern Cross flight two years ago, was today planning a trans-Atlantic flight. It was learned by radio from the steamer Sonoma, which is carrying the captain to this port from Australia.

Captain Kingford-Smith will leave the Pacific coast for the east and for England, and will plan to cross the Atlantic for a record flight in the fall, it was believed.

EL CERRITO TO BUILD WALK FOR TOTS

On the recommendation of Councilman Charles W. Zimmerman the city council of El Cerrito at its meeting Monday night ordered the sidewalk area on the south side of Stockton avenue from Fairmont school to Terrace Drive be levelled and gravelled. Zimmerman said that at the present time the school children were using the street to walk on which was very dangerous and the improvement would at least keep them off the street.

Renewal of about 25 soft drink licenses for the quarter beginning April 1 was granted by the council.

Application of Mrs. Rowena Hallberg for a soft drink permit at San Pablo and Central avenues was referred to Chief of Police R. R. Cheek for investigation.

Plans for the new outfall sewer proposed by the Stege Sanitary district which serves El Cerrito were read before the council for the information of the members and public.

The new location which was made necessary by filling at the old outfall sewers, will be located at Point Isabel and will serve an area of 3300 acres and an estimated population of 5,000.

Action on the application for the new outfall sewer will be taken at a meeting to be held at the office of W. W. Dickey, Public Health officer in San Francisco sometime this week.

Hawks Delays Glider Flight

MAYSE AIRPORT, Tucson, Ariz. March 31.—UP—Capt. Frank M. Hawks, noted airman, tonight postponed his attempt to hop to El Paso, Texas in his glider "Eagle" until tomorrow at 5 a. m.

High winds were given as the reason for the postponement. Hawks had started out for El Paso via Lordsburg, N. M. this morning, but was forced to return here when the line towing the glider parted eight miles east of here.

Capt. Hawks made test flights at the airport this afternoon and had planned to hop to Lordsburg as soon as the winds abated, but as darkness crept over the airport, he postponed the flight until tomorrow.

The former army flier is making the first transcontinental glider flight. He started from San Diego Sunday morning and landed here last night. Hawks said he would make up for the lost time enroute to New York.

Then he read the "personal." It said: "If Smith will call at street, he will find a surprise waiting for him—Anna."

YOUTHS FORGET PROPRIETY ON WARM DAY

The lack of conventional bathing apparel did not curb the desire of three San Francisco youths to go swimming when they gazed upon the smooth placid waters of the bay from a Richmond beach Sunday.

But the lack of conventional bathing attire did earn them a severe lecture upon the ethics of nude bathing near a public highway by Police Judge C. A. Odell yesterday.

The three youths, Patrick Kelley, Zenas H. Taylor and William S. Bucholtz, gazed with eager eyes at the water, which, on a warm sultry spring day, spread out before them, inviting them to partake of its cool refreshing comfort.

The boys might have enjoyed their dip and thought nothing more of the ethics of bathing a-la-nude, had not three elderly women, enjoying the spring day also, with a drive along the beach, cast their horrified glances upon three men bathing in the water—naked.

Of course the police department was notified, and Sgt. Charles S. Mahnke of the Richmond police force, escorted the young men to the police station where they were cited to appear before Judge Odell.
